Does my photo have to be of the completed entry?

You can submit your entry form as early as possible and attach a photo of the finished product at any point before the Entry Deadline. The photo is not required in order to sign up for the competition, but is required in order to be fully submitted. If no photo is uploaded, the entry will be disqualified. Photos are not required for all competitions.

I entered my child under my name and birthdate.

Parents should enter children and young adults under the child's name and birthdate.

Call or email the Program Coordinator to update the entry accordingly. Otherwise, the child may be judged against adults due to the age provided. Every entry must be submitted under the name of the individual who prepared it. The exhibitor's name will be listed as it appears on the online entry form.

Why is my birthdate/age required?

The age helps Program Coordinators determine whether you are competing against people in the same age range as you.

OC FAIR GLOSSARY & FAQ'S

Getting Ready for the Show

What is a “Juried Competition”?

Due to the overwhelming popularity of some OC Fair competitions and the limited available space to display the entries, some shows are pre-juried. This is also referred to as First Round Judging. First Round Judging or pre-jurying, determines which entries will be accepted for entry delivery and possible display at the 2018 OC Fair.

You are automatically entered in Youth, Culinary, Jewelry and Floral when your online form and payment is submitted, you will not get an “accepted for show” verification, only a receipt.

I entered my item and now realize I will be out of town on delivery day, can I get a refund?

Sorry, we are unable issue refunds. You may arrange for a friend or family member to deliver your entry for you. We do not accept early or late delivery of entries. NO EXCEPTIONS.

I received one (1) admission ticket to the Fair but I entered 4 items. Shouldn't I receive 4 tickets?

No. Each exhibitor receives one (1) OC Exhibitor Fair ticket per person regardless of the number of entries submitted.

Why didn't my 4-year-old who entered an item in a competition receive a Fair admission ticket?

Children 5 years of age and younger are always FREE to enter the OC Fair, therefore they do not need a ticket.

I entered into the Chocolate Chip Cookie Division of the Baking competition, but now I changed my mind and would like to enter a brownie instead.

For Culinary Arts, you may contact the Program Coordinator for the show and they can help you change your entry. You can call ahead or make your changes on Entry Delivery day.

For pre-juried competition, entries cannot be changed after the Entry Deadline.

During the Fair

Can I be present during judging?

Most judging is closed to the public. Some competitions in Livestock, Culinary and Garden & Floral are held live during the OC Fair. Check the Competition Guides for details on these competitions.

Can I be a judge?

Judges are strictly chosen based on experience in each individual competition they are judging. If you have professional qualifications for these positions, please e-mail the Exhibits Office at entries@ocfair.com for further instructions. You cannot be a judge and an exhibitor within the same department.

My display tag next to my entry is incorrect.

Contact the Program Coordinator of your competition to update your display tag.

I do not like where my entry is displayed, can I have it moved?

The Program Coordinator takes great care to display entries based on available space, safety and security of entries and overall aesthetic design and layout of the show. The Program Coordinator has the final authority on where an entry is displayed and entries cannot be moved without his/her permission.

How do I know if I won?

Come to the OC Fair! An award or ribbon will be placed on the display card or next to the entry. If you cannot make it to the Fair, results for most competitions will be posted online around the second week of the OC Fair at ocfair.com/results. Results for Beer will be posted the first day of fair. Results for Culinary Art competitions that occur during the fair will be posted no later than a week after the entry delivery day. Due to the large number of entries submitted to the OC Fair we are unable to answer individual phone calls or emails for competition results.
