Per the Office of the Attorney General (OAG), there are exceptions to AB 1887 that allow travel to banned states in certain circumstances (Gov. Code, § 11139.8, subd. (c).) These exceptions only apply if travel to a prohibited state is required for the following reasons:

1. Enforcement of California law, including auditing and revenue collection.
2. Litigation.
3. To meet contractual obligations incurred before January 1, 2017.
4. To comply with requests by the federal government to appear before committees.
5. To participate in meetings or training required by a grant or required to maintain grant funding.
6. To complete job-required training necessary to maintain licensure or similar standards required for holding a position, if comparable training cannot be obtained in California or a different state not subject to the travel prohibition.
7. For the protection of public health, welfare, or safety, as determined by the affected agency, department, board, authority, or commission, or by the affected legislative office.
